ART IN MANNERS.

The Difference Between Culture and No Culture.
As there is all the difference between good manners and bad manners, culture and no culture, good address and indifference, we purpose inquiring in what way art can help up in this sometimes neglected acquisition. Art should have as large a share of consideration in the cultivation of manners as in personal adornment or in the higher accomplishments. A face may be fair to look upon, yet the picture may be totally spoiled by an ugly framework of ill-manners. Civilized society has laid down certain rules, to which all its members, consciously or unconsciously, conform; and the more these rules are observed, the better claim they give to refinement. As the social scale ascends, the more definite and imperative these unwritten laws become, until in the highest circles of all, they rule with a despotic sway. We do not possess a "Ritual" or "Academy of Manners," as do the Chinese; but under the name of Etiquette we have laws equally binding. Nor are these confined to civilized nations. Savages have their manners and customs, however uncivilized they may appear to us, but it would not be thought friendly, much less good-breeding, to pull the fingers of those we salute till they crack, as do some negro tribes. A curious account is told of two dusky monarchs, who, when making a visit, greeted each other by snapping three times the middle finger. Although this is an example of two kings, it is scarcely worthy of imitation. Some savages take the hand or foot of him they salute, and with it gently rub their face—this must be rather wearisome to a devoted monarch—while others vigorously apply the nose against that of the person they are greeting. Other salutations are equally incommensurate and painful and would require some practice to enable a stranger to be polite in the society of such eccentric pagans. Herbert Spencer has shown that there is, nevertheless, always a reason for these strange customs.

Still, etiquette is necessary in royal palaces for keeping order at court; though in Spain it was carried to such lengths that it made martyrs of their kings. One of them was once seated by the fireside; the fire-maker had kindled so great a quantity of wood that the poor monarch was nearly suffocated with heat, yet his dignity would not suffer him to rise from his chair; nor could the domestics presume to enter the apartment, because it was against etiquette. At length a courtier appeared, and the King ordered him to damp the fire; but he excused himself, alleging that he was forbidden by etiquette to perform such a function, for which a brother noble ought to be called upon, as it was his business. This nobleman was unfortunately away from the palace, and the fire burnt fiercer; yet the King endured it rather than lessen his dignity. The result was that his Majesty became heated to such a degree that fever set in the following day, and he died a martyr to the rules of etiquette.

A great deal has been said and written lately about Culture; and yet, on the other hand, the fashion to be a plain-spoken person seems to be growing. This endeavor to cultivate a somewhat rough honesty generally ends in downright rudeness, and certainly does not come under the head of culture. All honesty in the expression of thought is to be highly commended when an opinion is asked; but there is no use, nor can it be desirable, to intrude unbecoming thoughts or disagreeable opinions when not wanted, for no other reason than to display the courage of expressing them. True politeness is a consideration shown to the feelings of others; not only outward politeness, but kindness in small matters.

PROHIBITION IN VERMONT.

The Ingenious Device Whereby Dealers and Drinkers evade the Law.

Cincinnati Commercial.

A gentleman whom I questioned about the working of the liquor law, told me just as I was told in all other parts of the state that there was no trouble in procuring whisky. He said: "I am in a very funny case, which is shared by most of our citizens who like a little stimulant occasionally. Come with me."

He took me to a cross street, and we entered a room which appeared to be a cigar store with confectionery, etc. We took seats at the rear, and my friend told me to keep my eyes open.

Within twenty minutes I saw ten or twelve gentlemen come in, some in pairs, some singly, some in little parties, go to the water-cooler, take a drink, buy a cigar and go out.

My friend finally asked me if I had seen any liquor sold, and I said "No."

"Nevertheless," said he, "every gentleman who comes in here took a good square drink of whisky and paid for it."

"Well," said I, the drink must have been in the cooler or the cigars. I know it was not in the cigars, for most of them were lighted before the purchaser left. It must be in the cooler."

"Well, go and draw some," said he.

I went to the cooler, held the glass under the faucet and pressed down the button. I was rewarded for my exertions by a flow of clear, cold water that soon filled the tumbler. I was puzzled, and my friend and the proprietor enjoyed it greatly.

My friend took the empty glass and drew from the same faucet a half a glass of whisky. If I was puzzled before, I was now thunderstruck, and after laughing at me a while, the trick was explained. It was simple: Press down the button and water runs; press up with the thumb from below, when you appear to press down with the forefinger and you get whisky; open the cooler, and you find it full of ice water. The whisky comes from a hidden cask in a closet up stairs, and flows through a small pipe which descends in the partition, and passes from the wall into the bottom of the cooler and connects with the faucet.

Before we left a party of five or six gentlemen came in, and I was told they were all town and county officials, and one of them was a justice before whom many of the cases of drunkenness and violation of the liquor law were tried.

A gentleman told me that in St. Johnsbury he saw a poor devil sent to the workhouse for liquor selling and drunkenness by a justice and prosecuting attorney who were both striving to overcome an all-night debauch, and who were taking a drink together within five minutes after the officer went out with his prisoner.

The Conspiracy to Assassinate Washington.

An attempt made to assassinate General Washington, in New York in 1776, is imperfectly described, as follows, by James Thibodeau, a Massachusetts surgeon, in the Continental army, in "A Military Journal, during the American Revolutionary War," under date of September 10, 1776: "I have omitted to record the following incidents, till I could ascertain the particulars of the reports. We learn by accounts from New York, that sometime since, a plot of the most atrocious nature was detected in that city. A gang of Tories had associated for the purpose of joining the British army, and concerted a plan, it is said, to assassinate his excellency, General Washington, and some other officers; and while our army was engaged with the enemy to blow up our magazines, etc. The mayor of our city, and an armorer, who was engaged in making rifles for the Tories, and several others, were taken into custody and committed to close prison. The mayor, on examination, confessed that he received money from Governor Tyrone to pay the armorer for the rifles. Two of his excellency's guards were confederates, and a third, to whom the secret was confided, honestly disclosed the information. Several of these miscreants were tried and convicted, and two or three were executed." A foot-note of this account, quotes as follows, from one of Mr. David Ramsey's histories: "Gov. Tyrone had suborned the then mayor of New York, to assist the royal forces on their arrival in that city, and Gen. Washington was to be assassinated. The detestable design was rendered abortive by apprehending Thomas Hickey, one of Washington's life-guard men, who was engaged in the conspiracy, and had engaged others; this false miscreant was tried by a court martial on the 28th of June, found guilty, and was executed on the same day, amid the cheers of the American army."

CARL SCHUEZ, remarks the Boston Post, writes a very sarcastic view of Mr. Bookwalter's letter of acceptance. If Carl really wishes to injure the gentleman he should go to Ohio and play the piano at Democratic meetings.—Chicago Herald.

A SYNDICATE of Americans, French and German bankers has resolved to construct a canal from Baltimore to the Atlantic, across the peninsula of Maryland and Delaware, at an estimated cost of $8,000,000. The canal route is the one selected, and the cut will be 120 feet wide, 25 feet deep and require eighteen months to complete. Baltimore commerce will thus gain 225 miles of sailing.

Internal Revenue Reports for the last fiscal year show Illinois to be in the lead in the matter of contributing to the public exchequer. It heads the list of states with $25,784,681 to its credit. Next comes Ohio, credited with $19,295,825, followed by New York, with $17,233,267. The amount collected from these three states is a little over sixty-two and a quarter millions, over twice as much as is paid by the fifteen southern states. Counting into the list West Virginia and Missouri, the list of southern states together paid $29,924,919. California, Nevada and Oregon together paid $3,751,851, or about the same as all the New England states, from which was collected $3,933,772. The Western states, counting Missouri with the south, paid $55,667,572, or nearly as much as the Middle and Southern states combined. The four Middle states contributed $30,087,223. These Western states, however, did not pay as much as the three great states of Illinois, Ohio and New York, they yielding nearly one half of the whole revenue. The territories paid altogether $290,187, of which Dakota contributed the most—$48,603, and Wyoming the least—$18,551.

Thermophore.

The thermophore is the name of a new and important apparatus for storing heat. This instrument professes to do with heat what others claim to have accomplished with electricity—store it up for future use.

This instrument is said to be a cubical box, about one foot on a side, but may be made of any dimension required, the outer coating being of either wood or metal, and the inside occupied by thin layers of iridium covered with tissues of silk saturated with liquid hydrogen. The iridium plates have first been charged with intense heat, by means of powerful reflecting mirrors set in the sun's rays. Then they have been covered with the films of silk saturated with liquid hydrogen, so that the heat cannot escape till the silk is removed. When a single plate of the metal is thus uncovered, the magazine speedily becomes intensely hot. The correspondent alleges that in three minutes a pan of water was made to boil and continued to do so for a long time afterwards. The inventor declared that this single magazine contained imprisoned heat enough to warm the Paris opera house all winter, and that a magazine two inches square would send forth heat enough to warm an ordinary dwelling house throughout the longest winter.

Senator Voorhees.

On the occasion of his last visit to Indianapolis, Senator Voorhees ran across a Times reporter of that city, and taking off his hat and mopping the perspiration from his forehead, he related the following reminiscence:

"I remember, when I was a young man, a good many years ago now, I wrote a speech for a Democratic member of the Indiana legislature. It was a d—d good speech, and handled the topics of that day very ably. As an episode of the speech I made the orator attack another Democratic member very vigorously. I did this purposely, because I had a secret grudge against the fellow who was going to speak and wanted to see him punished. The other fellow came back at him like the devil and completely chewed him up. My man couldn't reply at all. I knew he couldn't, as the other fellow was altogether too much for him. My man was everlastingly used up, and I got even without his knowing what hurt him. But this was a good many years ago," added the senator, with a sigh. "I wouldn't do a mean trick like that now."

Grand Discoveries.

The discovery of a great remedy is frequently a matter of accident. This, however, is not the case with TARAXINE, now widely known and approved as an almost infallible remedy for Liver Complaint and diseases of the Kidneys and Bowels. The best physicians have for many years used various preparations of dandelion root in these diseases but with only indifferent success. After a long series of experiments, a combination, with the active principle of the dandelion seed, and other improved remedies to heighten its potency has been effected, and the desired specific for these diseases has been found in the product—TARAXINE.

WASHINGTON, August 6.—The tenor of the verdict in the Whitaker case has been the subject of a good deal of speculation. It has been generally understood that it was averse to Whitaker, but this was not positively known until now. The report of the court-martial arrived at the office of the judge advocate general some time ago, but owing to General Swain's attendance upon the patient at the white house, it was not examined. It is now being revised, and will be ready for submission to the president for his final action just as soon as he is able to give his attention to it. The essence of the verdict is the finding of Whitaker guilty of committing the alleged outrage upon himself. This verdict is unanimous, and is coupled with the unanimous recommendation that he be dismissed the service. The judge advocate general will approve this verdict, there is not the slightest doubt about that, and thus will end the most remarkable military trial on record. It has cost the government nearly $25,000 to decide who mutilated Whitaker's ears, and even now, when it is all over and the verdict is that the boy himself did the job to excite public sympathy, it will be received with some doubt by a good many people.

TELEGRAPHIC

DANGER SIGNALS.

The President's Symptoms Somewhat Less Favorable.

THE FEVER THAT CONTINUES TO APPEAR EACH DAY.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7.—The condition of the president to-day has not been all that could be asked, or even as good as has been expected. The febrile rise which marked the course of yesterday caused some alarm last evening, but subsided toward 10 o'clock, and was thought to be merely temporary. This morning's bulletin showed that the president had passed a very comfortable night, and was resting easily this morning. There were no indications in the early part of the day of any important change in the situation. This afternoon, however, the fever came earlier than on yesterday, and rose somewhat higher toward night. As early as 12 o'clock his pulse had run up to 104, and the temperature to 100 degrees. This continued fluctuating all afternoon until, at 7 o'clock, the pulse was still 104 and the temperature had reached 101.2 degrees. This unfavorable condition has continued during the evening although the cooling shower of the afternoon has sensibly lowered the outdoor temperature.

On yesterday the reason given for the increased fever was that the day was so extremely hot and the cooling apparatus did not seem to work satisfactorily. To-day has been much cooler outside and there is no complaint on the score of the cooling apparatus.

The physicians appear to be somewhat at fault as to the cause of the abnormal temperature to night. It is time, in their opinion, that this afternoon surgical fever should begin to abate. Instead of that it has been rising daily for the last three days. No particular alarm appears to have been felt yesterday, nor is any expressed to-day, but there is some anxiety at the white house this evening. It was feared at first that the cause was another pneu cavity or the formation of an abscess in the region of the ball. This, however, was mere speculation, which does not seem to be borne out by the discharge, which is liberal and healthy in character.

The president appears to have been able to partake of his usual amount of nourishment of beefsteak and toast in small quantities; but this, it must be remembered, is no symptom either of appetite or the condition of his stomach. He has repeatedly said that he took these solids because his physicians requested it, not because he pined for them. He had been asleep at intervals during the day, even with his high fever, and does not appear to be disturbed otherwise.

All of the doctors have been present at intervals during the day, and both Doctors Hammond and Agnew sign the bulletin this evening. There does not appear to be any disposition on the part of the attaches at the white house to conceal the fact that the president's condition is not what they have the right to expect.

It is significant, however, that the doctors have grown suddenly reticent again, which has been considered all along an indication of bad news. They will say nothing about the case, except that there is no occasion for alarm. The change occasions a faint renewal of public anxiety.

Later unofficial reports from the white house to-night indicate a slight improvement in the symptoms. Dr. Hamilton, who was to have left for New York this evening, will remain on account of the unfavorable change. Dr. Bliss says there is nothing alarming about the present status of the case. He thinks there is no abscess, and the discharge of pus is quite sufficient in quantity and quality. There is nothing offensive about the matter discharged, and it is freer, if anything, than several days ago.

A rumor circulated this evening that he had been called upon for his surgical instruments. Dr. Bliss pronounces this false. He says there is now no intention to cut for the ball, nor will such a step be resorted to unless an abscess is apparent. He does not attempt to account for the extraordinary febrile rise, except as a continuation of the surgical fever. All the doctors will be present at to-morrow morning's examination.

It has been generally understood that it was averse to Whitaker, but this was not positively known until now. There will be a "great rally" of the greenbackers or anti-monopolists at Jacksonville on August 11th, 12th and 13th. The meetings will be held at the fair grounds near the city. Here are the names of the gentlemen announced to address the gathering: Gen. J. B. Weaver and Hon. E. H. Gillette, of Iowa; Gen. West of Miss.; Rev. G. De La Matry, of Ind.; Hon. Solon Chase, of Mo.; Hon. S. V. Wood, of Kansas; Hon. James Harper, Hon. A. J. Stranier, Hon. S. F. Norton, A. F. Carpenter and Rev. A. C. Vandewater, of Illinois. The Fifth Regiment band and the Jacksonville Glee Club will furnish the music. On Sunday, August 14th, there will be preaching by Rev. De La Matry and a temperance lecture at the banquet meeting to be held on that day. The Wabash will sell excursion tickets from Decatur, commencing on the 10th, good to return up to the 15th.

It is a bit of good news that will be read with interest: Postmaster-General James is about to adopt a plan for transmitting small sums through the mails, which to newspaper subscribers and other persons whose indebtedness often includes fractions of a dollar will be very welcome. It is an improvement on the new English system, and consists of a postal order on which there are three columns of figures—dollars, tens and cents. There are two denominations, one with a maximum of $5.00, the other of $5. The postmaster who issues them will designate the amount they call for by punching out the figures required. They are to be sent as fractional currency, the government not being responsible for them any more than for any other money sent by mail. A record of the amount and date of issue is kept upon a "stub" by the postmaster issuing them. In order to prevent their use as currency, they cease to be redeemable three months after issuing them. They will cost from two to five cents each, according to the amount.
THERE came near being a disastrous accident at Berlin, west of Springfield, on the Wabash Saturday morning. A switch had been left open and the east bound "cannon ball" train going at a high rate of speed ran off the rails, damaging the cars considerably and tearing up the track and road bed. The engineer and fireman jumped from the cab after reversing the engine and applying the air brakes. Fortunately no one was killed or injured. The heavy locomotive turned over on its side and was badly damaged.

THE GREAT SALES DAY.
Linn & Scruggs' Mammoth Store
Thronged with Customers
Since 9 O'clock
There was a great rush of people to day at Linn & Scruggs' store to take advantage of the great cut in prices announced by the firm. People flocked to the store from all parts of the city and from points 30 and 40 miles distant, and the aisles were never so busy showing goods and receiving the cash. Our reporter looked in upon the busy scene and was impressed more deeply than ever that judicious advertising in the newspapers always pays, particularly when the firm that advertises bargains in goods, makes good their words, as has ever been the case with Linn & Scruggs during their 13 years' residence among us. The people have learned that they carry out everything they promise to the letter, and when they offer bargains they never have to wait for buyers. To-day great stacks of dress goods worth 25 to 75 cents per yard went off "like hot cakes" at 12 1/2 cts; while quilts worth $1.25 sold readily at $1; and calicoes worth 62 cts. disappeared in a hurry at 3 cents per yard. There were also bargains offered in other goods, and everything named in the advertisement was disposed of at astonishingly low figures.
It was a great sales day for the firm, and by putting every available clerk behind the counters, they managed to serve all who called without much delay.
A Nightly Burglar.
W. P. Shad's residence on East Wood st., between 11 and 7 o'clock on Sunday last, was entered by burglars and the following articles carried off: Two baby rings, one lady's carved ring, set of coral ear rings, one gold ring with arrow ornament, one gold ring with pearl and turquoise sets, and a valuable self-loading revolver. The family left the dwelling at 11 o'clock with all the doors securely fastened. On returning to the house in the evening they found that the house had been entered through one of the west windows and robbed of its contents as above stated. One of the window panes was broken out, thus affording the burglars or burglars an opportunity to remove a nail and raise the window. No clue as yet as to the burglars.
A Welcome Pay too.
The Illinois Midland pay car arrived in the city Saturday evening with Paymaster Travers on board, well supplied with more than enough funds to pay off the Decatur employees of the road for the months of May and June. There was much happiness all around that night, and on Sunday morning the pay car continued its journey toward Peoria, Mr. Travers devoting the entire day to paying off the strikers on the west end. Paymaster Travers and his assistant broke their fast at the St. Nicholas on yesterday morning.

BISHOP MERRILL'S VISIT.
Two Able Sermons by the Noted Methodist Divine in Decatur on Sunday.
The State Holiness Camp Meeting.
BISHOP MERRILL.
On Saturday afternoon Bishop Merrill, of Chicago, arrived in the city, and during his stay here was the guest of Doctor Goodwin and family. He occupied the pulpit at the First M. E. Church on Sunday morning and evening. At 10:30 the spacious audience room was nearly filled by people from all quarters of the city. The pulpit and rostrum had been beautifully adorned with flowers and growing plants, and a selected choir of 7 voices led the congregational singing.
Bishop Merrill was presented by Doctor Goodwin, and the services were conducted by him. He read for a scripture lesson the 98th Psalm and part of the 9th chapter of Hebrews, and offered a fervent prayer, praying earnestly for the pastor, the presiding elder, all departments of the church work, for the nation, for the speedy recovery of the stricken president, and for all people everywhere.
The Bishop took for his text the 25th verse of the 7th chapter of Hebrews: "Wherefore He is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them." He consumed nearly one hour in the delivery of the sermon, which was deeply interesting throughout, though the divine made no display of oratory or eloquence. It was simply a plain, logical, doctrinal discourse, presented in a manner that must have left a lasting impression upon the congregation. The plan of salvation was never more clearly stated. In the course of his remarks the Bishop declared that Christ was the only priest—the Great High Priest—and no one on earth can dare proclaim himself a priest without being anti-Christ.
The service concluded with a fervent prayer by Dr. Davies.
At 8 o'clock the audience room was filled to its fullest capacity. The Bishop delivered another logical discourse, basing his sermon on the first verse of the 52d chapter of Isaiah:
"Awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion; put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem, the holy city; for henceforth there shall not come into thee the uncircumcised and unclean."
The sermon elicited the closest attention of the large congregation that departed well informed as to the importance of active church work and the duties of the officials.
Our reporter noticed the following named preachers at the First M. E. church in attendance at the services: Rev. Dr. Leaton, of Paris; Rev. J. C. Rucker, of Clinton; Rev. M. W. Everhart, of Mattoon; Rev. J. M. West, of Belleflower; Rev. W. A. Reynolds, of Maroa, besides the Methodist clergy of the city. The services of the Bishop gave great satisfaction not only to the church, but also to all who heard him. He is what is called a "level-headed" man—not showy, but sound and sensible.
THE CAMP MEETING.
Decatur sent a delegation of about 150 people Camargoward on Sunday morning to visit the dusty camp meeting grounds of the Illinois State Holiness Association whose members pitched their 40 or 50 tents there on the 2d inst., put up their banners and commenced their work of saving sinners. It was expected that Rev. Thomas Harrison, the celebrated boy preacher of Boston, Mass., would be there on the 3d and 4th, but he is reported ill, and was therefore unable to put in an appearance, but interesting services were conducted on Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Kemp, president of the association, Rev. L. M. Hane, of Kureka, Ill.; Rev. Mr. Jamison, of Georgia, D. S. Warner, editor of the Gospel Trumpet, Indianapolis, Ind.; Bros. Hawkins & Brooks, of the Banner of Holiness, Chicago; T. H. Doty, editor of the Christian Harvester, and other lesser lights. Rev. Harrison was not advertised nor was he expected to be at the camp meeting on Sunday, and those who went there expecting to see or hear him should not complain. There were no less than 10,000 people on the grounds, but only about one-eighth of them went there to reap any benefit from the services—so it appeared to an outsider—though nearly every one in the large assembly gave the preachers respectful attention. A Republican representative had a short talk with one of the holiness disciples, who stated that the meetings have been unusually successful. Nearly one hundred persons had been soundly converted to Christ, and others would be gathered in large numbers before the close of the meeting on Wednesday, August 10th. No one was permitted to smoke cigars or pipes on the grounds and there was no backsteking whatever. The reporter asked the brother what he thought of the Sunday excursion business. He answered that he didn't think the trains ought to be run, but they hadn't nothing to do with it—it was the railroad's business. The special trains from the east and west were all crowded with people, and so far as could be learned no accidents or rows occurred. The Decatur train arrived here last night soon after 9 o'clock.

OWEN ROONEY IN JAIL AGAIN.
The usual crowd of beer guzzlers were assembled at the notorious Weber beer garden on Sunday, and Mrs. Weber dealt out the amber liquid to all who wished it on receiving the regulation price per glass. The big hall was closed tight, as was ordered by Judge Smith, but there is more than one way of evading the law, so a beer stand has been built near the big building, where the business booms along just as if nothing had happened. In the motley crowd yesterday were Owen Rooney and John Brewer, son of William Brewer, the blacksmith. John had a little money and during the afternoon he was assaulted and robbed of his all—$5.70 in cash. He came to town and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Owen Rooney whom he charged with robbery. The warrant was issued by Justice Albert and placed in the hands of Sheriff Foster, who marshaled his hosts and started out to effect the arrest. He got on to the trail of Owen and treed him at his home in the Fifth ward. The Sheriff demanded admission but the family refused it. The officer said he would stay there until the crack of doom or words to that effect, and so he made arrangements to linger about in the immediate vicinity of the Rooney residence. After several hours of long and weary waiting on the part of the officers and watching on the part of the inmates of the dwelling, Owen weakened and surrendered himself to the Sheriff. Owen is now in jail with another good chance of going to Joliet.
The preliminary examination will be had before Justice Albert to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. Several witnesses will testify that they saw Rooney and Brewer fighting, and Brewer will swear that during the melee Owen put his hand in one of his (Brewer's) pockets and took therefrom his pocketbook containing $5.70.
PERSONAL MENTION.
Alderman and Mrs. K. Harwood arrived home this morning from Boston. Silmon Syfest, the leading grocer of Kenney, was in the city on Saturday. John H. Jackson can again be counted among the happy fathers. It's a girl. "Boody" McClellan is a happy freeman in the employ of the Wabash. L. A. Le Masters went to Macon Saturday evening to spend the Sabbath with his family. J. N. Wilkinson and G. P. Morehouse conducted the Y. M. C. A. gospel service at the jail on Sunday morning. Mrs. R. C. Dawkins and children will leave for Chester, Pa., to-night, where they will reside in future. Rev. Walter Els, of Hazardville, Conn., father of E. S. Els, is at Monticello visiting friends, and will reach Decatur on Thursday next. Josiah Epp held forth in front of the St. Nicholas Sunday morning for three or four hours. He drew a "full house" and held his own to the last. Clarence R. Paul, city editor of the Springfield Journal, Harry Dorwin, Gov. Cullom's private secretary, and Messrs. Post and Dodge, all of Springfield, were in the city on Sunday. Mrs. Martin Pratt and Miss Ada Pratt arrived home Saturday afternoon from their visit to Burlington, Ind. They were accompanied by Miss Maria Brewster, who is visiting in the family of E. B. Pratt. Major Emery, of Maroa, paid us a call to-day, and left for Springfield this afternoon to be present at the meeting of the State Board of Equalization which convenes to-morrow. The Major is the member from this (the 14th) district. Ben. Young, of 145 West Randolph st., Chicago, and formerly a member of the Decatur Hooks, has been in the city since Saturday, the guest of his brother Emil. He was yesterday receiving the cordial greetings of his many friends here. Ed. Upton, who has been with C. O. Judson in the Illinois Central office here for nine months, has accepted a clerkship in the office of the Cairo & Short Line road under his cousin, George E. Lary. Mrs. A. T. Elder is at Millerville, Sandusky county, Ohio, where she will remain until fall. "Lon" came up from St. Louis on Saturday to give the Elder dwelling an airing and get a breath of pure country air. He says the heat at St. Louis has been almost unbearable all summer. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Niedermeyer and Miss Bertha Freagen, of Bloomington, were in the city on Sunday, guests of F. W. Niedermeyer and family. Charley, who is a son of F. W., departed for home this morning to look after his business affairs. The ladies will remain here for ten days longer before returning to Bloomington. Rev. Dr. Buck arrived home this morning from the Methodist camp meeting near Charleston which closed on yesterday. The doctor preached two sermons at the camp meeting yesterday. Last night while on a train on the I. & St. L. road, three miles west of Charleston, the engine which was running backward killed two cows, and the locomotive and tender were dumped into the ditch. Dr. Buck was on the train and so were 300 other excursionists, but fortunately the train was moving slowly and all escaped unhurt. Charles Drohn arrived home from Germany this morning, after an absence of two months and one day. He left for New York on June 8th, and sailed for the Paderland on the 9th, arriving in Germany after a pleasant voyage of 12 days. He visited his sister and inquired after friends whom he knew 30 years ago when he sailed for America, but they had all died or emigrated, and Charley found that he was a stranger among strange people at the home of his early manhood. He visited various places in Germany, and altogether had a very pleasant visit. He was 13 days on the water on the return trip, and is glad that he is home, safe and well.

DEATH OF MR. HENRI HALL.
A Young Man of Fine Address Well Known to Decatur Society, Pays the Debt of Nature at Leadville.
On Saturday afternoon last the sad news of the rather sudden death of Mr. Henri Hall reached Decatur, through the medium of a letter written in Colorado by Mr. L. L. Burrows now in that state spending the summer. The intelligence reached our reporter a few hours after the reception of the news, and this morning we received a copy of the Janestown (New York) Evening Journal of August 3d, which contained the following obituary notice:
MR. HENRI HALL.
The sad intelligence was received this afternoon at 3:30 by telegram from Leadville, Colorado, of the death of that place this morning of Mr. Henri Hall, second son of Mr. John A. Hall, editor and senior proprietor of the Journal. The cause of death was pneumonia, and the first intimation of his illness received by his friends and relatives in Janestown, was a dispatch which came on Monday saying that he was dangerously sick. A more hopeful telegram received yesterday gave encouragement to his friends that his recovery was possible. Mr. Hall was in Janestown July 19th and left on the 30th for Leadville, where he had extensive business interests. During his last illness, his brother, Mr. John A. Hall, Jr., and wife were in attendance at his bedside. Mr. Hall was about 37 years of age and unmarried. He had been extremely and successfully engaged in manufacturing and other pursuits since reaching manhood, and possessed much executive ability and business discernment. He leaves a large number of acquaintances and friends in this and other sections who will learn of his unexpected demise with regret. There remains to be embalmed and brought to his father's home in Janestown, where the funeral services will be held. The interment will take place in Lake View Cemetery.
The deceased was an intimate friend of Mr. Brad Dubois and has visited Decatur on several occasions. He made calls here on last New Year's day, was present at the Cooke-Shellabarger wedding, and was here only a few weeks ago en route from New York to Leadville. He had many friends in this community who will be pained to learn of his untimely death.
Supt. Slade at the Institute.
Hon. James P. Slade, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, arrived in the city this morning from Springfield and spent the forenoon with the teachers at the Institute still in session at the high school building. At the roll call this morning 143 teachers answered to their names, and the regular recitations were heard by the instructors and the honored visitor. Supt. Slade addressed the Institute for three-quarters of an hour on the changes in the school law and spoke familiarly of the work in the country school, giving many valuable hints in teaching pupils and good government. The gentleman expressed himself as very well pleased with the success of the Macon County Institute and spoke words of encouragement to both teachers and pupils. He will return to Springfield this evening. Supt. Slade made us a short call this afternoon.
Voice Culture.
Mrs. M. L. Cain is prepared to give lessons in dramatic reading, voice culture, etc., as will be observed by a card in today's paper. We have referred so often to Mrs. Cain's abilities as a reader that it is unnecessary to now say more than that she possesses marked ability in her chosen profession, and persons who desire to take lessons in this magnificent accomplishment would do well to join the class under her instruction.
P. D. & E. Fronts at Nations.
Two rival railroad companies—the Peoria, Decatur & Evansville and the Danville & St. Louis—are at swords' points at Mattoon, and the journals published there are full of the racket. The bone of contention is a block of ground inside the city limits which both companies claim to have purchased, and over which each wishes to lay a track. The P., D. & E. folks claim to have paid the money for the disputed block, and obtained a deed for it twelve hours in advance of the D. & St. Louis company, but the latter company succeeded in having their deed recorded first. The Mattoon council granted the latter company the right to go ahead with their track-laying work. The other evening a force of P., D. & E. workmen attempted to lay a track east from their track at St. Eighth street and across the block lately purchased by the representatives of the D. & St. L. road, but as the D. & St. L. company had a man employed to hold the block day and night, an alarm was given, and a force of D. & St. L. railroad fellows were speedily on hand to prevent the consummation of the plans of the anti-St. Louis branch fellows. Later in the night a barbed wire fence was run around the block and shotguns and revolvers made all things secure for the possessors. The P., D. & E. force laid their track up even with the improvised fence. Every lawyer is engaged pro or con in the conflict for the possession of the block.

THE HORSE.

BY WILL CARLETON.

We are the slaves of men—
The men who own the roads!
They load us down with burdensome loads:
They bind us with ropes on our necks,
And know that we cannot answer back:
In winds of winter, or summer sun,
The tread of our hoofs is never done;
And when we are weak, and old and lame,
And labor-stiffed, and bowed with shame,
And hard of hearing, and blind of eye,
They drive us out to the world to die.
Yes, we are the slaves of men—
The slaves of selfish men!
They drain us into their bloody rivers,
They spit us, bleeding, into their ditches;
They poison our souls with their venomous ire,
And curse us into a storm of fire,
And when to death we are bowed and bent,
And take the toll for them we meant,
And they leave us to rot and bleed,
And dash their spurs in another steed!
Yes, we are the slaves of men—
The slaves of selfish men!

Mark Villard.

No man in Wall street, says an eastern paper, has budded in so short a time into unpleasant notoriety as Henry Villard, the Austrian adventurer and speculator. Having swallowed up the Northern Pacific road by means of his "blind pool," he has established in Wyoming territory a schedule of rates that is truly alarming. He charges 24 cents a bushel to transport grain a distance of 270 miles, and all freight in small quantities must pay on 100 pounds. The people in that section, having no other means of transportation, must either pay Villard his exorbitant demands or let their material go to waste, while he occupies palatial offices in New York and rolls in wealth, every dollar of which is illegitimate speculation.

The present summer in Russia has been an exceptionally cold and wet as it has been in some portions of the United States dry and hot. In some districts there have been destructive rain storms, and sheet and even snow storms. Notwithstanding these drawbacks, the wheat crop of the empire will be much larger and better this year than it has been before during several seasons.

MARK TWAIN says: "There is something fascinating about science. One gets such wholesale returns of conjecture out of a trifling investment of fact."

Oh, What a Cough!
Will you heed the warning. The sign of the cough is the sure approach of that more terrible disease consumption. Ask yourself if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cents to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Bickel's cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves cough, and whooping cough, at once. Mothers do not let without it. For lame back, side, or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by Henry Smith, druggist.

Dyspepsia & Liver Complaint.
Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so, call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer, every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use according to and if it does you no good it will cost you nothing. Sold by Henry Smith.

We have a speedy and positive cure for catarrh, diphtheria, canker mouth, sore throat, and all kinds of throat troubles. A nasal injector goes with each bottle. Use it if you desire health and sweet breath. Price 50 cents. Sold by Henry Smith. Dec 11-dwif
